Rhythm & Words conceived by and featuring Tanya Scott, is a sparkling potpourri of music, dance and drama. This piece assembles some of the finest local performers –both adult and youth—to present a production of immense power and variety. By showcasing the many phenomenal local talents that live right here in our own community it is a soaring testament to this unbelievable talent which surrounds us.

Rhythm & Words is a joyous celebration of the performing arts and of the written word. It’s a wonderful revue with dancers, actors, spoken word artists, musicians, and the like, performing in a variety of genres and styles that will keep its audience mesmerized and always on the edge of their seats.

Rhythm & Words is the penultimate piece for FreshVisions’ 2011-12 production season. It comes right on the heels of the incredibly positive reception to Marching to Freedomland, our annual civil rights movement history play which closed its three week show run in March. Our summer adult alumni production Four in the Morning was also enthusiastically received. And our collaborations with other community arts group such as PianoWorks, Sweet Spirits II, COSA COSA Art-at Large, and the Jobs, Resource & Development Center has, indeed, made it a memorable season.

Rhythm & Words is truly the next jewel in our crown. It is a glorious festival of artistic excellence that all ages will enjoy and so is suitable for the whole family. There is truly something for everyone in this marvelous piece. This is an event that will make the perfect family outing. You can’t afford to miss Rhythm & Words!
